

IIAHN Institutional Survey

The purpose of this Institutional Survey is to help the IIAHN to better understand each partner institution. By capturing this information at the beginning of participation in the network and then each year following, the network will be able to track any changes over time within the institution and be better able to understand the impact of the network on each partner institution.

This survey should be filled out by each partner institution at the beginning of the participation in the IIAHN and at the same time each year thereafter.

University:

Date:

Filled out by:

In filling out this survey please focus on the core purpose of the International Academic Indigenous Health Network which is to advance cultural safety in education, research and service.

Strengths

What are the strengths of your medical school in the following domains:

1. Medical Education:
2. Research:
3. Service:
4. Indigenous student support and opportunities:
5. Indigenous faculty support and opportunities:

Weaknesses

What are the weaknesses or gaps within the medical school in the following domains:

1. Medical Education:
2. Research:
3. Service:
4. Indigenous student support and opportunities:
5. Indigenous faculty support and opportunities:

Opportunities

Identify any current or future opportunities that may positively impact cultural safety in medical education, research or service or the experience of Indigenous students or faculty.

Threats

Identify any current or future threats that may negatively impact cultural safety in medical education, research or service or the experience of Indigenous students or faculty.

Network Needs

If you were to receive a Faculty Exchange from one of the partner universities, what would the specific objectives for the visit be and what contributions would you hope for from the visiting faculty member?

How would you know if the visit was successful?